There are additional properties in the township that are classed as vacant land - I only listed those I could find in the tax records that are owned by the township (and a couple owned by the Taylors and Hunters).

Titles in italics in column one correspond to parks list from twp website and from the ROSI on file with the state of New Jersey, both of which are shown below. Inconsistencies are shown in red. The rows showing properties that appear on the state's ROSI list are shaded. If the name that appears on the parks list and ROSI are different, both names have been indicated.

Cinnaminson Township offers a variety of passive and active recreational opportunities through its municipal properties. These facilities include ball and soccer fields, tennis and basketball courts, walking trails, playgrounds and a host of other opportunities for recreation. The current total acreage of municipally-owned property in Cinnaminson is 127.43 acres. Of that amount, 22.47 acres is undeveloped, while 104.96 acres are developed as active parkland.
